Be Careful of Getting Heat Stroke!!

We are having hot days recently. During this time of year, we hear a lot about heat stroke on the news. Symptoms of heat stroke are hard to notice, so it can be fatal. Follow the instructions below to prevent getting it.

- ① Maintain Health When you have a slight cold or don't have good sleep, refrain from going outside and exercise, especially during hot daytime.
- ② Dress Appropriately Wear comfortable and breathable clothes, and put on a hat outside.
- ③ Stay Hydrated When you feel thirsty, your body has lost a lot of water already. Drink water regularly. Also, you lose salt in your sweat, so taking salt or isotonic drink is highly recommended.
- ④ Mind Age Children and elderly people can get heat stroke easily. Mind age and take preventive actions.

If you get heat stroke...

- Move to the cool shade of tress or inside of a room
- Loosen the clothes and rest
- Cool you're your body
- Get hydrated (isotonic drink is good for salt intake)

Visa Renewal and Permanent Visa

Shin-Ei helps applications for visa renewal and permanent visa. Common questions from visa applicants are "Why do I get only a year extension for my visa?" or "How come I don't get permanent visa?" The Immigration Office makes decisions for visa, so there is no simple answer. But, the followings are some examples we have experienced.

<Those Who Got Only 1 Year Extension>

- ① They did not pay taxes When renewing visa, you need to submit a tax payment certification of the last 2 years. But, if you have any unpaid taxes before that, you might have to submit a tax payment certification to the Immigration Office until you pay all unpaid taxes.
- ② They did not pay national insurance Even if you join social insurance currently, the Immigration Office checks any unpaid national insurance in the past. In this case, you might need to submit the list of unpaid national insurance. A person only got a year extension because a family member living together didn't pay.

<Those Who Didn't Get Permanent Visa>

- ① Their income was low If your income is too low compared to the number of dependents living in Japan and other countries, you might not get permanent visa.
- ② They didn't pay automobile tax Same as residence tax, if you haven't paid automobile tax, you might not get permanent visa.

Again, the Immigration Office decides about visa. There is no simple solution because each person has different situations. But, we recommend you to pay taxes so that you are less likely to have difficulties for visa applications.

Training for Career Advance

The revised Worker Dispatch Law became effective in 2015, and a dispatching agency is required to provide systematic training to their dispatched employees. The training has to be given for the first 3 years, more than 1 occasion every year and more than 8 hours a year.

Shin-Ei has developed e-learning training system in Japanese, Portuguese and English. We will give you a training notification with salary statement. If you receive it, please take it.
